Dear Parents,

Over the course of Book Week, children have had the opportunity to enter a story writing competition. We had hoped to judge these and announce the winners today. We have been delighted with the number of children who have chosen to enter! As a result, we have had over 80 entries across the whole school. As I'm sure you can imagine, it will take us some time to read through these and give each child the time they deserve whilst we short list the entries before the school council judge the final winners.

We will be able to announce the winners next week!

Thank you for your understanding, patience and support in encouraging your child to enter!

Miss Hines
