

Worplesdon Primary School – Weekly Update

Dear Parents and Carers of Year 4,

19.6.20

We would like to begin by saying, once again, how amazing all of Year 4 are being. Whether at home or in school, the work that is handed in remains at a very good standard. We do appreciate how hard it is, particularly for those still at home to juggle school work around family life and we are very thankful for the exceptional effort made by all of our Year 4 parents and carers for the continued support you are giving. We have kept our curriculum more or less the same as we would have in school so it's a fantastic achievement to think that no one is falling behind.

In English, we have started our new block of work focusing on the skill of using different types of sentences by rewriting the story in the 'Embarked' video. We will continue to use this text as a focus next week and the children will be tweaking the setting. We look forward to reading more of their fantastic work!

In Maths, we have been investigating symmetry. The children have impressed us with their resilience and perseverance, especially with the house point challenges. Next week, we will be using coordinates on a grid to describe and plot specified points to complete polygons before moving on to movements of points on a grid and describing these as translations of a given unit.

We have enjoyed looking at some of the art work the children have been completing at home! There has been some very creative work!

Please remember, we do not expect every child to complete every piece of work. The children will not always be able to work at the same pace as in school. If you need any support please do email one of the team.

It has also been lovely to see the children on the Google Meets and the house point scavenger hunts! These will continue next week so keep working hard to earn those house points!

Finally, if your child left their PE kit in school, they will be ready to collect from Monday 22nd June. So please collect these before the end of the Summer term (Wednesday 22nd July).

Kind Regards,

The Year 4 team.
