

Worplesdon Primary School – Weekly Update

Friday 29th January

Dear Parents / Carers,

Is it the end of week 4 or week 14? While it feels like we've been doing this for eternity and there is no end in sight, your children continue to show such amazing resilience and energy! We are unbelievably proud of them and it is so wonderful to see that they are not only being kept busy at home but that they are still making good progress against the Year 6 curriculum objectives.

This week we expanded our live lesson provision and the uptake has been wonderful. Guided reading in particular has been an absolute joy as we could facilitate discussions between the children at home and in school about the stories they have been reading. Thank you for continuing to bear with us if the internet connection on either end is having a funny moment because the live sessions really are so precious to us to see the children and to allow them to ask us questions.

Additionally, please remind the children that they are doing an AMAZING job. Just like when we are in school, there are times when we can feel overwhelmed or confused when learning about a new, challenging topic. If they are not sure of something, even after attending a live lesson, please do leave us a comment against the assignment and we will try to get back to you as soon as possible.

Finally, as per Mrs O'Brien's newsletter, spelling workbooks (both current and the following book) will be available for collection next week. This will allow the children to complete the activities more easily (for example, the sentences for the dictation activities can be found at the back of the book to read to them).

Have a lovely weekend together,

Mr Clifton, Miss Dunne and Mr Djadali
