

Worplesdon Primary School – Weekly Update

Friday 14th May

Dear Parents / Carers,

The half term is fast approaching with only 2 more weeks of school left but the children are continuing to make us proud with their unwavering energy and drive to learn.

This week, we auditioned for some of the larger speaking and singing roles in our end of year production and we were absolutely blown away by how many children put themselves up for a role! Their confidence really shone through, so it is going to make our decisions very hard to make! Over the course of next week, we will hopefully try to allocate roles so that we can let the children learn their lines over the half term.

Thank you to the children and parents who have reached out to us about reading and asking for recommendations on what their child should read next. If you would like any suggestions or book lists, don't hesitate to let us know!

We are now overflowing with newspaper – thank you for all of it but we definitely don't need anymore! Again, if anything comes to mind that might help with props or stage dressing, please let us know.

Have a lovely weekend,

Mr Clifton, Miss Dunne and Mr Djadali
