

Worplesdon Primary School – Weekly Update

Friday 21st October

Dear Parents / Carers,

We made it! Your children have now completed one-sixth of their final year at Worplesdon which I'm sure feels bizarre in terms of how time has just flown by. We are so proud of their hard work over the last 7 weeks and they definitely are deserving of a rest!

After half term, as part of our science and learning for life lessons, we will be looking at how diet, exercise, drugs and lifestyles can affect our bodies. We feel this aspect of their education is vital so that they are prepared for challenging situations that may arise in the future and we would appreciate your support if the children come home with questions. If you have any questions or queries regarding this, please don't hesitate to contact your child's teacher.

A small reminder – please can you make sure your child's clothing is clearly labelled. We are starting to build up quite the collection of unnamed school jumpers and PE kit jumpers!

Other than that, we really would just like to thank you for your support over this half term and hope that you find some time to relax together over the next week!
