

Worplesdon Primary School – Weekly Update

Dear Parents / Carers,

Friday 3rd December

It is finally December! The children loved coming into school on Wednesday seeing their classroom decorated with all things Christmassy. In addition, they have all enjoyed their advent calendars as well as the elves that have visited us.

We are very excited about the upcoming carol concert on Tuesday 14th December after school. Please see the ParentMail that was sent out with all the details! The children have been practicing the carols at school.

As a reminder, if you have any jars that can be donated for us to use in art we will be very grateful. We are going to be making canopic jars linked to our Egyptian learning.

Next week, the children are going to be creating their own adventure story. We look forward to seeing their own imagination come to life.

Just a quick thank you for supporting your children with reading 4 times a week. It makes such a difference to their confidence in all subjects.

We hope you have a great weekend.
