

Dear Parents/Carers,

Another week has flown by and we continue to be impressed with the curiosity your children approach their learning with. This was particularly clear in our DT lesson this week where the children used microscopes to find out more about the properties of different fabrics!

Well done to every child who dressed up for World Book Day yesterday – we think it was one of our best dress up days that we can remember! The children spoke so confidently and excitedly about their characters and really inspired each other to try out new books!

Our book fair has also had lots of visitors this week, but if you didn't get the opportunity to visit please see the ParentMail that went out on Thursday with how to order so fabulous books. Worplesdon will get a proportion of these online sales as well, so every little helps!

As a reminder, our PE days will continue to be Mondays and Tuesdays. We sometimes need to move our PE sessions from the hall to the playground or vice versa, so children having layers they can take on and off is always helpful! Equally, with all the rain this week, we've had lots of wet socks and shoes during lessons! A spare pair of shoes/trainers at the bottom of their bags each day would really be appreciated.

Finally, we are really looking forward to seeing you virtually once again next Wednesday and Thursday for parents evening. Ahead of this, we will be sending home some of the children's books on Monday so you can celebrate all of their achievements together at home. Please could these be returned to us on Tuesday. The Google Meet links will come out early next week and if you have anything specific you would like to discuss with us please don't hesitate to email us in advance.

Have a wonderful weekend,

Mr Djadali, Mr Clifton & Miss Bennett
